

Plus Opto Celebrates its 30th Anniversary

Opto eNews

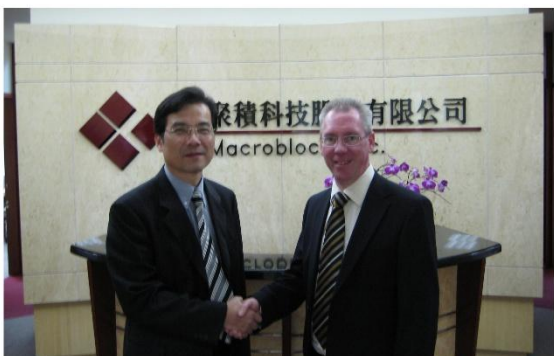

As we reach our 30th anniversary milestone, we reflect on our journey we have taken through the advances in fast changing technology in the UK market economy.

Established in 1994 as a specialist supplier of optoelectronic components into the electronic manufacturing industry, our continued success is based upon well-maintained traditional values: quality, customer service and technical support..

Our track record and reputation over the years has built solid relationships and trust with our long-standing customers and suppliers allowing us to provide fast response in product support and excellent customer service. During the significant challenges of recent years we have further demonstrated our resilience in a dynamic marketplace.

Our range of products and applications has grown and diversified from Components and Display modules into a broad offering of support solutions and we are committed to further development and profitable growth.

It continues to give us great pleasure to support our customers with continued investment in our people, infrastructure, product range and inventory..

Plus Opto is home to the complete range of optoelectronic devices and systems: LED based products, Colour & Monochrome LCD modules, OLED Displays, Integrated Display Solutions, LED Drivers & Controllers and lighting solutions along with custom and semi-custom displays and assemblies .
